

The Olsen Gang in Jutland

Olsen-Banden i Jylland

For the 50th anniversary of the premiere, we will be issuing a minisheet featuring photos from the film.

There are few Danish films that are still as popular – if not more so – than when they were first released 50 years ago. One member of this elite group is Olsen-Banden i Jylland (The Olsen Gang in Jutland), which first graced cinema screens back in the autumn of 1971. The film sold only 338,898 tickets at the cinema, but its popularity has increased over the years.

It is the third film of a total of 14, and the first in which you really see the popular characters from the film fall into place.

Much more than just cake

This year's prestige booklet tells the history of cakes

Sink your teeth into the 32-page story of cakes in a broad historical perspective.

The booklet's four chapters look at why baked goods are so popular with Danes, as well as the traditions associated with these sweet eats.

It contains four gummed sheets with the cake motifs that were issued as self-adhesive stamps in January. One of the sheets includes a colour separation print of the stamp summer layer cake.

Text in Danish and English.

Butterflies

The Pearl-bordered Fritillary, the Northern Chequered Skipper, the Alcon Blue, the Common Yellow Swallowtail and the Purple Edged Copper.

Will you remember the names? These are five species of butterfly that are in the process of disappearing from the Danish natural environment.

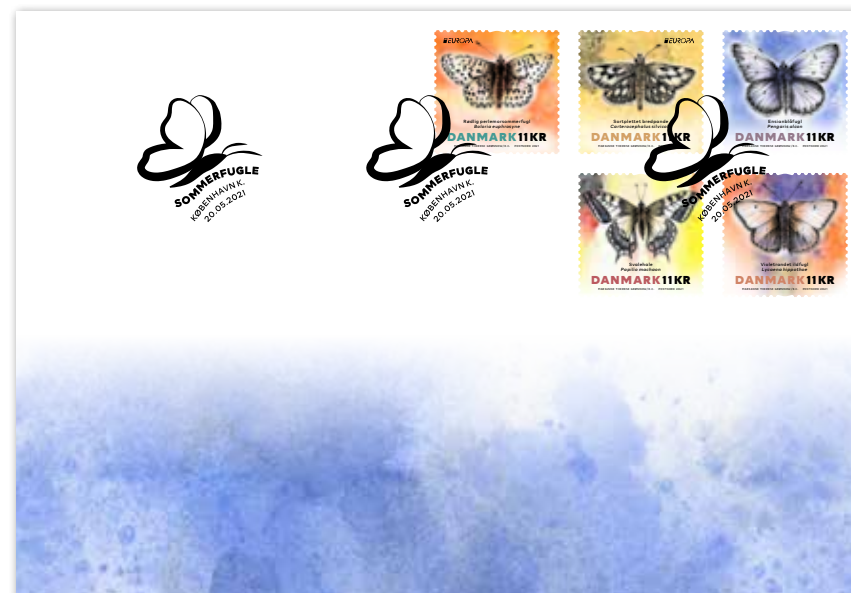

There are around 100 species of butterflies in Denmark, but the lack of flower-rich habitats and several dry summers in a row have particularly contributed to the rapid decline of these colourful insects.

The stamps here focus on five of the endangered species because these insects are having a difficult time, and many species are unfortunately on the verge of disappearing completely from the Danish natural environment. Two of the stamps are part of the EUROPA 2021 Endangered National Wildlife theme.

The beautiful motifs are the work of visual artist Marianne Grønnow.
